

Free Child Trafficking and Modern Slavery e-learning for Independent Advocates

Home Office

VIRTUAL
COLLEGE

Do you want to understand how to safeguard child trafficking victims effectively?

Do you want to know more about Child Trafficking and Modern Slavery?

Do you want more information on the National Referral Mechanism?

As part of the Government's announced package to support trafficked children the Home Office together with ECAPT and the Virtual College have developed an e-learning package on Child Trafficking and Modern Slavery

This e-learning is for existing Independent Advocates, which are a statutory provision for all looked after children. Only individuals holding these positions are eligible to access this training. If you are not sure if you are eligible to take part in this training, please contact childtrafficking@homeoffice.gsi.gov.uk.

What will you gain from the e-learning?

The training will improve the awareness of Independent Advocates regarding child trafficking and modern slavery along with their understanding of the specific needs of trafficked children and how to support them.

The training will focus on:

- What is Trafficking?
- The Traffickers and victims
- Safeguarding the Victim
- The Agencies Involved
- The National Referral Mechanism
- Investigation and prosecution
- Legislation and Guidance

How to access the course:

The course will take approximately 2 - 3 hours but you can proceed as quickly or slowly as you like. On successful completion of the course you will be able to download and print a certificate .
