

Relationships Matter Reducing Parental Conflict Virtual Briefing

Reducing Parental Conflict virtual briefing – This 1 hour briefing session will help you to:

- Gain a greater awareness of what is meant by ‘parental conflict’ and the impact it has on children
- Recognise the differences between constructive and destructive conflict
- Understand what the evidence tells us about parental conflict
- Identify tools that can be used to explore parental conflict in families

We will be joined at the end of the briefing by Kim Kyle from ‘Relationships Matter’ to talk through the referral process and interventions that are currently offered by the service. Kim will be available to answer any questions.

Please note the briefing is 1 hour long and then half an hour added with Kim Kyle.

Dates available:

Date	Time
Wednesday 4 th November 2020	1.30-3pm
Tuesday 1 st December 2020	9.30-11am
Thursday 21 st January 2021	9.30-11am

They are virtual briefing sessions to be held in Microsoft Teams. Places will be offered on a first come, first serve basis.

This is a free briefing session – to request a place please forward your name, job title and email address to strongerfamilies@durham.gov.uk